

Main aims FEULAT 2006

- Provide a space of encounter, exchange and joint reflection between young people from Latin America and Europe;
- Generate debate and interaction with key actors and institutions involved in youth policy in the Euro - Latin American agenda
- Strengthen co-operation between European and Latin American youth organisation and regional platforms;
- Enhance a common working agenda on youth, involving all stakeholders in the Euro-Latin American frame.

Specific objectives and expected outcomes

1. to get to know and understand the development process of global youth in the last decades identifying main key moments, actors, issues and documents in such processes;
2. to put this complex process into context, relating it to the participants' specific realities and working environments;
3. to explore in depth the recent developments on global youth policies and define common strategies in terms of:
non-formal education youth rights and their protection
full and effective participation of young people;
4. to confront participants' concerns, needs and expectations on these three areas with those of the other institutional stakeholders at global and regional level; to define common positions on those fields and concrete guidelines for action in a Euro-Latin American context;
5. to provide a space for dialogue, mutual learning and networking, enhancing future youth co-operation;
6. to identify sustainable strategies and lines for action to materialize the projects based in results of FEULAT process;
7. to involve and commit participants in the development and continuation of the FEULAT process (political and thematic dimensions.)
